FROM DAY TO DAYA FUTURE KING.

It is not any overstatement of royal personages themselves, but a genuine interest in the training of one who will some day be an essential part of the most balanced government in the world, that causes us here in Edmonton to feel interested in the education of "Prince George's" little sons. There has been a consultation between King Edward and over arrangements for the education of Prince Edward and Albert. It has been decided that the two Princes should go to Exeter to the Royal Naval college at Dartmouth. It is probable that Prince Edward will ultimately go into the army for a few years, while Prince Albert is to join the navy.

The British sovereign has absolute control over the education of all members of the royal family, and, indeed, their mode and place of living are entirely in his (or her) hands. At Osborne the young Princes will work in the engineering shops and learn the rudiments of a naval officer's duties, both above and below deck. They will be taught to use their hands in the roughest work, such as sail drill, knotting and splicing. When they have arrived at their teens they will receive a thorough elementary training in physics, machine engineering, etc., including the use of tools and machines. When they leave Osborne they will go to sea and will there be instructed in practical seamanship, navigation, piloting, gunnery, mechanics and engineering. Both Princes are to have training, for it might happen that the succession might fall to the younger one, as it did to his father, who was King Edward's second son.

SOCIAL.

Mr. Auguste Noel, accompanied by his bride, the daughter of Mr. Justice Lavigne, arrived in the city yesterday and are staying for the present at the Alberta.

Mrs. Secord, Mrs. York and Mrs. Wilson leave next Thursday for the coast, where they will visit for some weeks and await the return of Messrs. Secord, York and Wilson from their Pacific islands tour. Miss York accompanies her mother and will spend some months in Vancouver for her health.

Mrs. Cooper's tea yesterday was a most enjoyable event. The room, decorated with flowers and holly, had an appropriately festive appearance. Mrs. Cooper, who received her guests alone, was prettily gowned in pale grey silk, and with bands of grey satin trimming and some soft white lace at her throat. In the tea room the decorations were unusually attractive. Over the table a large Christmas bell of holly was suspended with artistic festoons of evergreen to the corners of the room. Beneath this table was a picture of a lone house, decked in a color scheme of crimson and white. Deep crimson carnations in a high vase were reflected in a holly-wreathed mirror and sprigs of holly were most effectively arranged upon the white linen. At the tea table Mrs. Hishop, gowned in silver grey silk, adorned with pink-embroidered chiffon vest and ermine toque, presided with Mrs. Hubbard, who wore a silk gown of delicate shade and rich mink toque. Mrs. Pace assisted in looking after the comforts of the guests, and the Misses Lynch, Payne, Sutherland and Johnstone aided in serving the dainty refreshments.

LAMONT ITEMS

Correspondence.
 The day before Christmas was a day of accidents in Lamont and vicinity. Mr. D. Markle, of the Markle Stock Farm was training and training a vicious bronco. As he was harnessing it, it attacked him and broke both bones of his right leg near the ankle. Mr. Johnston rans gloves wood for all those who bring the poles to his mill. Yesterday Mr. Joe. Alton brought a load to be sawed. His little son, Bert Alton, nine years of age, started to take the blocks away from the saw while one of the men was absent. He was very anxious to throw the sticks from the saw as fast as he could, but he cut them and in his hurry he put his left hand in front of the saw. The teeth tore the back of his hand badly from the wrist to the fingers. The doctor found it necessary to amputate the forefinger and middle finger and had little hope that he can save the ring finger.
 Mr. Weeks of the Paken Mitten paid Lamont a flying visit.
 Mr. Bert Harrison, Dr. Avie's rental druggist spent Christmas in Tofted. This Union Burned School held their first Christmas tree on Christmas eve. Mr. Barnes was chairman and a good program was given by the children. The star of the evening was Mr. Peter Whitehead who gave a rhyming description of the local celebrities of Lamont, their business, their methods and their most notable characteristics. It was a decidedly enjoyable thing and was well received and each got pictures of himself as "others see him". The basement of the church where the entertainment was held, was very prettily decorated with evergreens. The trees were loaded with presents useful, ornamental and otherwise. There were so many of them that the tree could not hold them all. Few were forgotten. The crowd was very large filling the basement completely. A large number were here from Beaver Hills and Mr. John Fraser, who came up, to give a speech. He gave in his usual entertaining and acceptable manner.

Since the church has been built the Sunday school has been growing and now there is a large attendance as it has been there used to at the preaching service in the schoolhouse.

Mr. P. C. Smith is preparing to move his house from east of the Beaver Creek to Lamont. A skating rink was to have been made in Lamont to give zest to the Christmas festivities. It was begun and much labor was bestowed upon the making out, to measurement and then the removal of the snow came next. Water problem however, was not making point and now the making of snow, bounding the rink that was to be, now lies there a memento of blasted hopes.

Messrs. Smith & Torrie have given the contract of slaughtering some hundred hogs to Messrs. McKee and Pearce.

Mrs. E. Holmes and family have returned from their visit to Ontario and Manitoba and are living above the store of Walker, Reid & Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Shedd have gone to Beaver Hills to spend their Christmas.

Messrs. Millard and Harold have been buying wheat to ship to the east and now that they have their cars loaded they find that it is impossible to get more at present.

Mr. Harold has bought the south-east quarter of section 26, township 16, range 19 west of the 4th meridian from Mrs. Ewan of Strathcona.

Owing to the increase in the number of children in Lamont, the question of building a new school is being agitated and will be almost necessary this coming year.

Christmas trade has been very brisk and it has been a common sight to see a party of sixty or eighty people at the shops.

Mr. D. Markle, has secured a contract from a Toronto firm to deliver a carload of trained polo ponies next spring. He has managed to purchase a number of the right stamp and is busy superintending their training.

After New Year's Mr. Hennig, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, intends raising his prices for accommodation to travellers.

Mrs. McLennan has been re-engaged in the Beaver Creek School District for the coming year.

Mr. Munro has been re-engaged for the coming year in Bloomfield School District.

DAILY MARKETSSTOCK SUMMARY

Stocks opened somewhat irregular this morning at a little below Monday's closing figures and ruled rather easy for the greater part of the day. Around about noon the bears, encouraged by the rather quiet market, endeavored to force prices down, but their drives were met in nearly every case by excellent buying, said to come from very strong sources and the market as a whole closed quite strong at fair advance over the previous close. We believe in buying the good stocks, especially around the low and medium priced issues now on all dips and expect to see much better prices all round after the first of the year.

DAILY GRAIN LETTER

Wheat—With the exception of a little spurt of activity and strength around the opening, this market ruled extremely quiet with values steady. The holiday at Liverpool and London was probably responsible for the small supply of foreign news. Paris sent prices ranging from 1-1 lower to 1-2 higher. An Argentine cable, said, "Weather changed, harvesting of wheat progressing favorably. Offerings are scarce." Special Russian news was to the effect that there had been heavy frosts at Odessa. Statistics were favorable to holders. North West receipts Winnipeg included for two days of a 1-1 only 1891 against 1484 last year. This visible increased 591,000 bushels against last year's increase of 2,484,000 for same week. The total amount now in the receipt is only 3,530,000 against last year's figures of 4,251,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour equalled 37,400 bu. With the demand abroad for our wheat increasing, it would not be surprising to see quite a good advance in wheat after the first of the year and meantime believe that best results will be obtained by assuming a scalping position.

New York, Dec. 26.—The U. S. Steel Co. will start the New Year with over 37,000,000 tons of unfilled orders on its books. This is the largest number ever carried on their books and indicates another year of great prosperity, possibly greater than 1906, which has been the record year to date for the company.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The small stocks and the low prospects for an increase in country offerings of oats, despite the fact that the Government report made the crop considerably larger than last year, made many cash houses and shipping concerns go into the pit and bid for the May and July in large lots and this buying resulted in a sharp up tick at the close Monday. The market is ripe for an upturn and as the speculative crowd are heavily overbid and with the expected increase in the public participation after the first of the year we look for lively and higher prices.

New York, Dec. 26.—The stock market opened irregular and soft in spots but the trade is now more settled and prices are firming all along the line. Prices we will have a good return and would buy the good stocks now.

New York, Dec. 26.—Probably a narrow market for a little while. Money market looks better. Should improved money conditions be maintained securities will quickly boom. Keep long of low priced stocks. They are the surest of the sure.

HIS MOVE.

A Halifax divine is persuaded that "the brains of the Dominion lie in the Maritime Provinces." The delusion being of a harmless nature and originating in excess of local patriotism need not be considered an occasion of offence. It may be said, however, that said "brains" appear to "lie" in the Maritime Provinces only until a favorable opportunity offers to rise and travel west. If the present movement continues the Halifax pastor will awaken some bright morning to find that the glory has departed from Ichabod and that the brains which now "lie" in the Maritime Provinces are hustling on the prairies. The pastor should come west or he will be lonesome one of these days.

THE EIGHT HOUR BILL.

Mr. Verville introduced a bill in the House early in the month, providing for the eight-hour day on public works. The bill provides—

His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:—

1. Every contract to which the Government of Canada is a party which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen or mechanics, shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman or mechanic in the employ of the contractor or sub-contractor, or other persons doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract, shall be permitted or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood or danger to life or property.

2. Every such contract hereafter made shall contain a provision that unless the person or corporation making or performing it complies with the provisions of this Act, the contract shall be void and the person or corporation shall not be entitled to receive any sum, nor shall any other, agent or employee of the Government of Canada pay or authorize payment from the funds under his charge or control to the person or corporation, for work done upon or in connection with the contract which in its form or manner of performance violates the provisions of this Act.

3. This Act shall apply to work undertaken by the Government of Canada by day labor.

WESTERN DEVELOPMENTS AND THE RAILROADS.

The Winnipeg Tribune calls on western boards of trade and the Railway Commission to do something to relieve "The Railway Tie-Up." In its premise the Tribune says:—

"From all parts of the country comes the same story. Elevators are full; the sale of grain is stopped; fuel can not be bought; merchants can not secure goods; farmers, unable to dispose of their wheat, after hauling it ten, twenty or thirty miles, are obliged to haul it to their homes again; unable to pay the accounts they have run with the merchants; the merchants, unable to live without money, have been forced to raise further credit; signs are posted in all stores, which read: 'Books closed until April—no credit'; the irregularity of the mails has become a grim joke; in short, the railroads seem to be paralyzing the business of the country, brought face to face with a great calamity."

These conditions, if practically existing here at all, are far less noticeable in Alberta than in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. While they are produced there in part no doubt by the unusual sporadic blockading of the railways, they are also the effect of the rapid increase of settlement and the consequent increase of production and of railway traffic. Exactly how far the increase of traffic is responsible for the present blockade it is impossible to determine, but it must already be a very great factor, and it is a factor which if disregarded could alone produce a railway blockade, without the assistance of unusually difficult conditions of operation.

This increase of railway traffic is and must be a feature of western development of rapidly increasing proportions. It reflects the increase of western production both in the products exported from the west and in the commodities imported in return.

Not only is there an annual increase of produce for export but the increase each year must be larger than that of the preceding year. The immigration returns and homestead entries do not represent any considerable increase in production for the current year, but they indicate an additional acreage which will be brought into cultivation during the next and succeeding years. If one hundred homestead entries were made during 1906 this does not mean that the produce of 100 quarter sections has been added to the crop of 1906, nor that this area will be added to the crop acreage next year. But it does indicate that during 1907 and the several succeeding years an additional acreage will be added until the whole 100 farms are producing.

The western crop of 1906 represents in little measure the operations of the settlers who came during the year. It is the result of the labors of the settlers who came last year, and of those who preceded them. But of those who came last year probably not one in a hundred had his entire quarter section under cultivation this year; few probably had half their farms under crop. But while the crops of 1906 were growing the settler was breaking ground for a larger crop and the settler of 1905 will probably have twice the crop acreage in 1907 that he had for the present year. To this increased acreage will be added that brought under cultivation by the greater number of settlers who have arrived during the present year and also the additional area cultivated by those who were in the country prior to 1905, hundreds of whom are bringing new land under crop annually.

It follows that the possible western production is always in excess of the natural production; that western farmers have always a reserve of land at present unproductive, but which will be productive in the future. Therefore, the stream of immigration were to cease suddenly and entirely the volume of western exports and imports which constitute the real railway traffic of the country would continue to grow for many years to come. If the west produced 50,000,000 bushels of wheat for export in 1906 this means in reality that the number of farmers now in the west are capable of producing probably from 100,000,000 to 125,000,000 bushels when their farms have been brought to their normal production. And the more rapidly immigration increases the more rapid will be the increase both of the actual production and in the possible and prospective production.

This in turn means that Western Canada is very rapidly catching up on the capabilities of its railway facilities. If it is not already taxing these abilities to handle the present traffic, and that the railway problem is changing from that of constructing "colonization roads" to facilitate settlement to the construction of trunk lines to accommodate traffic already existing and certainly to multiply. The west must be developed not only to the point of large production, but to the point of producing all the country is capable of producing. To permit such development steadily and continuously the basis of supplying railway facilities must be that these shall always be certainly capable of handling all the traffic such development may create.

BRANDON FIRE

Bulletin special.
Brandon, Man., Dec. 26.—Fire broke out at noon today in the basement of the Kelly Hardware Company's store in the Yukon block, and before it could be brought under control the whole block was destroyed. In addition to the Kelly Company, W. H. Hovey had a counting room on the ground floor while the whole basement was used for the storage of his oil and heavy hardware. The upper floor was devoted to offices. For a time it was hoped that the fire would be confined to the hardware store, but the large amount of combustible matter in the basement rendered this impossible. The loss is placed at $50,000 with insurance of $25,000. The block was the property of Messrs. Burrell and Hovey.

World's Market

Liverpool opening cable—Wheat unchanged, corn 1-3d. lower.
Paris opening—Wheat 10c. higher to 1c. lower. Flour unchanged to 1c. higher.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Corn—The increase in speculative support afforded the corn futures was slight, it was hardly worth mentioning but, the manner in which the packing interests took hold of the market for the short interest. The small increase in receipts was more than offset by the small proportion of contract grades and buying of the houses and shippers does not indicate that these interests anticipate any material increase in receipts and with the small stocks of all points are endeavoring to hedge themselves against any possible loss by being unable to make deliveries.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Wheat—The holiday character of yesterday's trading was disappointing to both bulls and bears. The bears being most disappointed as they had figured on rather high prices, but the support received around the opening convinced many that what around present prices was worth the money. The market is but a trifle larger than a year ago and the exports bid fair to increase instead of diminish from now on and the domestic flour business has been so poor that it must improve at the first of year as all flour dealers are operating on a hand-to-mouth plan. On this day would buy good wheat, for a scalp or as investment.

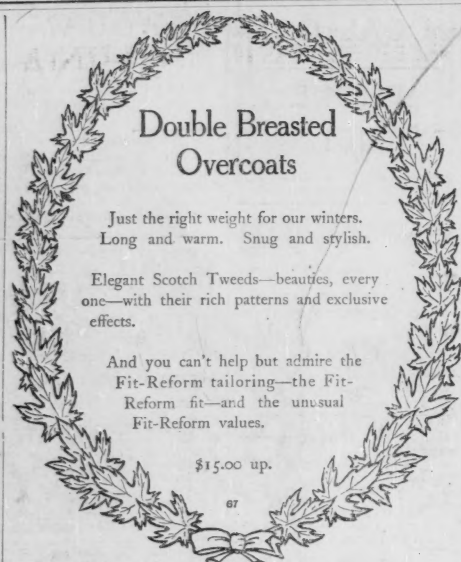

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK
Chicago, Dec. 27.—Hogs—Receipts 23,000, 171 over 6.14, prices about at yesterday's range. Light 6.15 and 6.42. Mixed 6.20 and 6.50. Rough 6.00 and 6.15. Cattle 9,000, market strong. Sheep 20,000 steady.

New York, Dec. 27.—The Bank of England money rate remains unchanged. This is a good sign and will help conditions considerably.

New York, Dec. 27.—Amal. Copper is getting much scarcer in the street. Rising money means better prices for stocks. Another week or two should see the end of money troubles. January disbursements will have been paid and will begin to flow back again. The stock to the low price share. They are sure to show good profits in short time.—Wall St. News.

New York, Dec. 27.—The professional bar attacks on the list yesterday have left the market in a strong position and were rather inclined to be slow that purchases be in order on the opening. The severe drive made at Great Northern and Northern Pacific was responsible for considerable profit taking and short selling and a part of the opinion that the short interest is again becoming unwelcome. The money situation is easing as the last of the year approaches and it now appears unlikely that there will be any squeeze over end the year.
